

Share Your Favorites!

Did you know that reading on grade level by third grade is the leading indicator of high school graduation?

Join the RI Children's Cabinet and our partners in promoting early childhood literacy and putting students on an early path to success.

During the week of November 26, share your favorite childhood books on social media using the hashtag,

#RIReads

Just one post and you'll be helping to bring awareness to this important work. Why is it your favorite book? What memories does it elicit? In what language did you first read the story? We want to hear about the important role that reading has played in your life, and share that story with educators, students, and families.
